Claim Objections

1. Claims 11-13, and 16 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 11, lines 5 and 8, "coil" should be changed to -plug-. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wirth et al (US 6,062,192).

The patent to Wirth et al teaches the internal combustion engine with spark ignition, which directs fuel to spark plug region for all conditions including starting condition (col. 5, line 51 through col. 7, line 19).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wirth et al in view of Nakada (US 5,881,694).

The reference of Wirth et al discloses the invention as above discussions, except the injection into the first cylinder on an intake stroke.

The reference of Nakada discloses the fuel injection control system for in-cylinder direct injection, spark ignition internal combustion engine that include the injection operation for a first engine cylinder being on an intake stroke (see abstract).

It would have been an obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify and/or provide the method of Wirth et al with a injection into the first cylinder on an intake stroke, as taught by Nakada in order to enhance the engine's start ability.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 12, 13, 16, and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed May 10, 2005 have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Claims 11-14, 16, and 17 are pending.
